Mississippi Supreme Court rules against Cinque Bambini

Mississippi's coastal tidelands belong to the citizens of the state, not to private landowners, the state Supreme Court said Wednesday.

Attorney General Ed Pittman called the decision an important victory for the state. "It reaffirmed the common law that the state owns its shorelines and the minerals underneath. This is crucial to the state's economy because of present and potential oil leases."

The Court's decision also insures that the public will have continued access to the shoreline and tidelands, Pittman said.

The unanimous decision said that the state owned all land naturally afected by the rise and fall of the tides, both coastal and inland, to the present average high water level.

Land which has been brought within the ebb and flow of the tide by dredging and other artificial means is still retained by private owners, the decision said.

The specific land involved in the law suit is 600 acres in Hancock County north of Bayou LaCrosse and the Jourdan River. The state has had the property leased to Saga Petroleum U. S. Inc. The state's ownership was challenged by Cinque Bambini Partnership and four other landowners in the area.

The suit challenged the interpretation of the federal grant to the new state of Mississippi in 1817, giving all tidelands and navigable waters— together with the land underneath them— to be kept by the state as a public trust.

The partnership and landowners claimed that this applied only to navigable waters, but the Supreme Court rejected this contention.

The opinion said, "It is our view that, as a matter of federal law, the United States granted to this State in 1817 all lands subject to the ebb and flow of the tide and up to the mean high water level, without regard to navigability."

Waveland Centennial plans to be considered with budget

BY DENA BISNETTE

Plans for celebration of the City of Waveland's centennial in 1988 are on hold until the board of aldermen sets its budget for the 1988-89 fiscal year.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. said the board will probably consider the matter with the budget and decide whether the city can provide funding this year for some of the centennial preparations.

In addition, a list of possible events for the centennial observance was scheduled to be presented to the board at Wednesday's meeting by Centennial Committee Chairman William Bradford.

Bradford, however, said Monday that he is "disappointed with the board" and feels there is a "general apathy" toward the centennial.

Bradford said he has informally offered suggestions on the cen-ennial celebration since late 1984 without results.

"You can talk all day long about ideas but unless you are willing to put up some funds to make something go, you can't do anything," Bradford said.

He said he planned to ask Wednesday why there has been no board action so far other than the appointment of a committee that has never met.

Bradford's ideas for the centennial observance include requesting information from other cities that have recently observed centennials or are planning observances.

He said such an observance should be coordinated with local civic groups and other agencies and possibly with historical societies and the history departments of nearby universities or colleges.

Civic groups could provide ideas and support for special events while the historical societies, college-level history students and volunteers could help assemble a brief history of the city.

He also said there might be a possibility of associating some parts of the city's centennial observance with the 175th anniversary of Hancock County in 1987.

Events could include contests, pageants or plays, exhibits, races, parades, slide presentations, publications and commemorative cookbooks.

Longo said Tuesday that no action has been taken on the matter because the centennial is still two years away.

"We'll start on the centennial plans this fall and once we get it all together, I think it will be great fun and a big success," the mayor said.

Planning Commission considers special zoning for hospital area

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission is considering a new area for a special use hospital-clinic zone.

Planners Ned Boudreaux and David Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission presented a revised plan for the hospital-clinic zone following a revision of the information.

The revised plan calls for the special use district to include all property fronting on Drinkwater Road across from the new hospital site.

This would include 5.4 acres.

The planners also described an additional 8.2-acre zone which could be included in the special use district. This district includes a deeper zone from Drinkwater Road and some frontage along Green Meadow Road.

Commissioner Joe Marochino said the commission should consider the extra area at this time because residence owners could possibly halt a further extension of the zone at a later date.

Marochino also said he would like to have a public meeting on the special district after the commission had decided on their recommendation for the area.

The planners also presented the commission a list of support services that are typically located around hospitals.

Taylor said the list was not all-inclusive and had been provided so the board could review the types of service organizations they would allow in the special district.

The list included medical, chiropractic, dental, health, psychiatric and psychological clinics; dentists and physicians offices; and medical and dental associations and foundations.

Also included were dental and medical laboratories, pharmacies, drug stores, artificial limb and brace retailers, flower shops, gift shops, nursing homes, hospital and medical supplies, day care centers, health clubs, public health centers and nurse training facilities.

Marochino said he thought the last seven organizations should not be included on the list.

County saving vault space by reproducing old records

BY DENA BISNETTE

Compact reproduction of land deeds in the Hancock County Chancery Clerk's office is reducing the amount of storage space needed in the courthouse records vault.

According to Hancock County Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, land deed records are being reproduced both on microfilm and in compact record books that take a quarter of the space the county's older deed books take for storage.

"We started this three years ago but we're only now beginning to see the benefits of it," Necaise explained.

He said the project is being done on a quarterly basis and will probably take about five years to complete.

The record books are first microfilmed by Southern Microfilm of New Orleans, La. and are then reproduced in compact, plastic-bound books. The records are not altered except in size.

The compact books are replacing the old cloth-bound records on the shelves in the vault. The old deed records, once reproduced, are being moved to the courthouse attic.

The microfilm will be stored elsewhere to avoid loss of records if the courthouse is damaged.

Necaise said Hancock County once lost some of its records in a courthouse fire. Other counties where records were stored only in the courthouse have had similar problems.

"It would take only a short time to recover the most recent deeds but some of the older records may be impossible to replace," the clerk explained.

Reproduction of the records is also expected to help preserve them, since the oldest books have become brittle and some of the pages fall out or crumble when the books are handled.

The oldest deed books and those in the worst condition are being processed first. The cost of reproduction is about $65 for each new book, which contains two old ones.

Necaise said the fee is included in the annual budget for his office and will eventually save the county money.

State jobless rate takes first dip in '86

The April jobless rate for Mississippi experienced its first decline of the year to 10.9 percent, according to Mississippi Employment Security Commission Executive Director, Cohen Robertson. This was a decline of three-tenths percentage point from one month ago when the rate was 11.2 percent. The April 1985 unemployment rate was a lower 10.1 percent.

Place of residence employment stood at 1,020,000 in a labor force of 1,145,200. Persons employed in both agricultural and nonagricultural jobs showed increases over one month ago when the total number of persons employed stood at 1,010,300. There were also 15,600 more persons employed than were counted in April 1985. These increases were experienced in spite of an increasing number of individuals left without jobs because of declining oil prices.

Manufacturing establishments provided 221,100 jobs, which represented the tenth consecutive month of employment above 220,000. Nonmanufacturing jobs were estimated at 628,900. Nonmanufacturing establishments have accounted for 600,000 or more jobs each month since reaching the 607,100 in March 1985.

There were 137,667 claims filed in April 1986 compared to 128,088 in March and 130,546 one year ago. There were 7,288 placements made, which represented a 17.4 percent increase over last month.

FEMALE RIVALRY

"Mapp & Lucia," a delightful four-part comedy series about the rivalry between two women in 1920s British society, will air on Mississippi ETV at 8 p.m. Thursdays.

The series chronicles the relationship between Miss Elizabeth Mapp, the reigning queen of Tilling-on-Sea, and Mrs. Emmeline Lucas (known as Lucia), a usurping prima donna who comes to town and attempts to overthrow the established order. The battles that follow give an amusing, sometimes hilarious insight into village life in its trivial glory.

"Mapp & Lucia" is based on the characters from six E.F. Benson novels and stars Geraldine McEwan as Lucia and Prunella Scales as Mapp.

On passbook accounts

Banks not moving to increase interest rate

By Karen L. Moore
Cooperative Extension Service

Mississippi banks apparently are in no great rush to pay savers more than 5.25 percent on passbook saving accounts even though they are now free to do so.

Many banks in Mississippi seem to be taking a wait-and-see attitude before raising rates, said Beverly Riggs, a family economics and management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"Right now the market doesn't dictate paying a higher interest rate," Ms. Riggs said.

Banks nationwide were given the green light on April 1 to raise the interest rate they pay customers with passbook savings. The interest rate had been capped at 5.25 percent.

A telephone survey of banks in Jackson, Starkville, Tupelo and on the Gulf Coast found that all but one believe no changes are necessary because of declining interest rates.

Each banker telephoned cited the various types of accounts offered by his bank and said these accounts offer easy access with interest rates comparable to passbook account interest rates.

"Even six-month certificates of deposit don't pay much more than passbook accounts right now," said Corky Springfield of People's Bank in Tupelo.

Because interest rates are so low, any increases banks would make would not be much. Ted Roman of First Bank of Starkville said they recently combined their "silver" and "golden" passbook accounts into one paying 5.5 percent, compounded daily.

"The ending of the ceiling on interest rates for passbook saving accounts is the last account to be de-regulated in the 3 1/2 year process of bank de-regulation," said Cleve

Brown of Unifirst in Jackson.

Several bankers predicted that passbook accounts would change in the future. Springfield of People's Bank in Tupelo called passbook accounts a "diminishing breed."

Bill Carlin of Gulf National Bank on the Gulf Coast predicted passbook accounts would be "died" in the future. A tiered account would work up from no interest paid and relatively high service charges on low balance amounts to money market rates and no service charges on high balances.

Although passbook saving accounts and certificates of deposit don't offer the best interest rates now, Ms. Riggs did recommend U.S. Savings Bonds for small and large savers.

"The interest rate is 7.5 percent and is guaranteed," she said. "Income tax on the interest is deferred until the bonds mature."

For large savers Ms. Riggs recommended zero coupon bonds. A $1,000 bond can be currently purchased for $385. No actual interest is earned but the owner gets $1,000 when the bond matures in 10 years. The disadvantage is that the owner pays income tax each year on income that he doesn't receive until the bond matures.

Bay St. Louis City Hall designated historic landmark

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Bay St. Louis City Hall is a recent addition to the list of Mississippi Historical Landmarks.

Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. reported Tuesday at the council meeting he had recently received notification of the addition of city hall to the list by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

Frankiewicz added that he did not expect this inclusion would cause any problems with repairs and restoration to the building currently underway.

He reported to the council a preliminary estimate by Architect Michael Reeves for the project including architect fees and insurance at $16,690.

Frankiewicz also told the council specifications and plans for the work would be completed and ready to be advertised for bids by the second week in June.

Also at the meeting the council agreed to petition the United States Postal Service to preserve the live oak trees on the site of the new post office.

Bay resident Tyson McMahon told the board many city residents are concerned that the U. S. Government would cut the trees before anyone could prevent it.

"We feel it would be criminal to cut these live oak trees which are probably around 350 years old," McMahon said.

He added that he just wanted the council to be aware of the situation and do whatever possible to protect the trees.

Frankiewicz said he would contact Gulfport Postmaster Norman L. Dilley concerning the preservation of the trees and recommended council members and interested residents also contact Dilley.

Responding to a question on the board's position on the unit system, Councilman Charles Johnson said the board had not discussed the issue and therefore had no position as a group.

Council John Wilkerson said he didn't think enough was known about the unit system to have a position and that information presented by persons who had worked with the system in other counties was enough of input on the program.

"Personally I would like to be able to talk with the supervisors and a number of citizens from the counties using the unit system to form an opinion," he added.

Wilkerson also said he was not opposed to the present system because he gets more out of the supervisor from his beat than he gets out of the mayor.

Councilman Lisa Coward said if the benefits of the unit system are greater for the residents of Ward 1 and the Bay St. Louis as a whole than the present system, she would be in favor, if not she would oppose it.

"The unit system will be whatever the elected officials want it to be, their genuine concern can make it or their lack of concern can break it," she said.

Also at the meeting, the board unanimously passed a motion by Coward to establish a policy which would restrict police cars and any other city vehicles from leaving the city limits except on official business.

The board also instructed Frankiewicz to notify Dr. Swan Ward, 982 South Beach Blvd., to remove a fence he installed which takes in 17 feet of city property and a city fire hydrant.

Wilkerson said there had been numerous problems in the neighborhood because of the fence and that it restricted the view of drivers.

City Clerk Edward Favre reported at the meeting that bids on a new fence to be constructed around the city yard would be opened at the June 3 meeting.

In other business the council: —Passed a motion by Coward to have specification prepared to have traffic stripping put on Dunbar Avenue, North Beach Boulevard and Washington Street, from Old Spanish Trail to US-90.

—Approved a recommendation for Clement Steve Benvenuti and David Michael Necaise to serve as judges pro tem for six months when Judge John C. Chevis Jr. might have a conflict of interest.

—Approved the nomination of Peggy Dutton to the Hancock Human Resources Council established by the county supervisors to govern the programs for senior citizens and the Hancock County Child Development Center.

—Approved: Frankiewicz's recommendation for Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commissioner Gordon Boh to serve on the Bay Board of Adjustments.

Civil Defense seeks boats, volunteers

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense Department is updating its list of volunteers who own boats.

The Civil Defense Department receives assistance from boat-owning volunteers during evacuations, floods or search-and-rescue operations, said Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin.

Boudin said the department is looking for boat owners who are familiar with various parts of the county.

In addition, he asked that people who have previously been listed as volunteers contact his office to update their volunteer status. He said updated information is particularly needed from volunteers who have sold or moved their boats.

Anyone who wishes to volunteer or update volunteer status should contact the Civil Defense Office at 467-9226.

Quotables by CUEVAS

The long Memorial Day weekend will be celebrated in many ways in our county.

There are many things of interest to our citizens, and one of the most important, of course, are the special services for our veterans.

American Legion posts in Bay St. Louis and Waveland will conduct Memorial Day Services to honor members of our armed forces who have died in the service of our country throughout this nation's history.

We hope many of you will take the time this Memorial Day to reflect on the sacrifices made by so many on behalf of all of us.

Memorial Day services will begin by the Bay St. Louis American Legion Post No. 139 at the grave site of Clement R. Bontemps in St. Mary's Cemetery on Necaise Avenue at 10 a.m.

This will be followed by a service at Post 139's Memorial for those veterans killed in World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, and the Vietnam Conflict.

Dedication ceremonies will then be held for the home of Boy Scout Troop 208 in memory of Warren (Buck) Buehler, who was a scout and involved in the post's scouting programs for 47 years.

Among his many scouting honors, Buehler was honored as a Silver Beaver by the New Orleans Area Council of Boy Scouts of America.

He was an American Legion post commander for two years, and a member of the post's executive committee for over 30 years, serving as color guard at the time of his death.

In Waveland services will be held at the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray memorial in front of the post's home on Coleman Avenue. These services will begin also at 10 a.m.

It is hoped many will attend Memorial Day Services.

A big event this weekend for Waveland will be the First St. Clare Seafood Festival set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Activities are scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m. on Friday and noon on Saturday and Sunday for the event to be held at Auderer Boulevard, next to Our Shopping Center.

All types of seafood, boiled, fried and cooked specialties are to be served.

A crawfish eating contest is among some of the many events which also will have live entertainment.

We hope there will be a lot of folks visiting the Seafood Festival.

The People's Business

Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

The report from a study of Mississippi's highway system begins with this statement:

"The problem is one of financing. The state has a system of roads under the jurisdiction of a State Highway Commission, but no provision for adequate state funds has been made."

This report could have been written anytime over the past few days since the 1986 Legislature adjourned without funding for fiscal 1987 the $400 million-plus operations of the Mississippi Highway Department.

Actually, the report was presented to the Governor and the legislature in February, 1982.

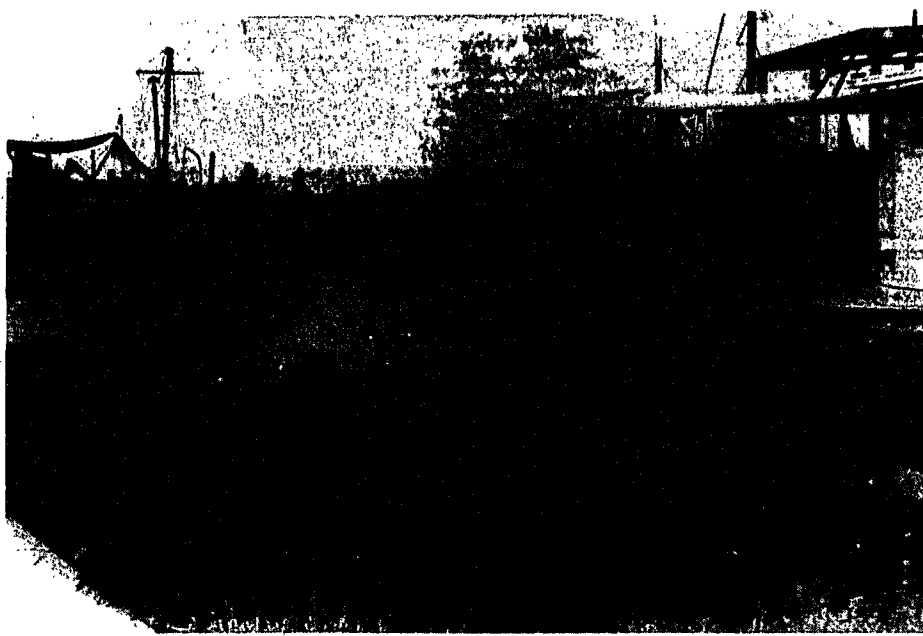

The 1932 report included another recommendation, in addition to the recommendation for funding. The report said:

"The State Highway Commission is one of the administrative branches of the state and should properly come under the jurisdiction of the Governor...The Commission should consist of not less than three members, possibly five. It is recommended that they be appointed by the Governor...Only the centralized authority of the state can proceed to the improvement of the state highway system in a uniform and orderly manner, arranging a construction program to fit the needs of traffic as disclosed by traffic counts."

Now, after fifty years, Mississippi may be in a unique position to implement those recommendations of a half century ago.

Voices from the past, and the present, are speaking out for reorganization of the state's Highway Commission, and for adequate funding of the state's program of highway construction and maintenance.

CLOSE QUARTERS—Some 5,800 sports fishing and shrimping licenses have been sold in Hancock County, according to a Mississippi Wildlife Commissioner. At Bayou Cadet there is only one public boat launch and quarters are close due to docked boats. The launch is under the authority of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and complaints should go to them, the Wildlife Commissioner said. A big concern for authorities is the opening of the Mississippi shrimping season on June 4 at 10 a.m., which will cause more congestion at the launch. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Patrol chief foresees record highway deaths

JACKSON—Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol officials today warned that 1986 will be a record-breaking year for highway deaths if the increase currently underway continues.

"Traffic deaths are up by 37 percent in Mississippi and if this trend continues 1986 will surpass any annual accounting period recorded in the past 15 years," Colonel George Saxon, Highway Patrol chief, said.

"The combination of lower gasoline prices and more and faster driving is sending many people to their grave."

"This year could produce more highway fatalities than we have seen since 1972 when 922 were killed in automobile crashes."

"With the upcoming Memorial Day holiday being the first major observance of the season, we expect traffic to be heavy. To discourage speeders and other law breakers, certain areas of the state will have 24-hour patrols," the chief said.

The 78-hour Memorial Day holiday begins Friday, May 23, at 6 p.m., and ends Monday, May 26, at midnight.

During last year's Memorial Day holiday period four people were killed in four separate accidents, three of which were caused by speed.

"It is a serious problem when 70 more people have died as a result of automobile crashes than they had a year ago at this time and we still have seven months to go before the year ends," Saxon said.

Statistics maintained by the Highway Patrol show that more deaths are occurring in all areas including a 30 percent increase on city streets, 55 percent increase on county roads and a 34 percent increase on state and federal highways.

Saxon said seat belts have been proven to save lives and in conjunction with the Memorial Day observance, Governor Bill Allain has proclaimed the week of May 22-29 as "The All American Buckle-Up Week."

According to the proclamation, the current nationwide economic losses resulting from traffic crashes exceed $65 billion each year, and national studies show that 12,000 to 16,000 lives could be saved throughout the United States annually, if all motor vehicle occupants used safety belts at all times.

"Motorists should put forth a concerted effort to take any measure that can save a life including abiding by speed and other laws and wearing seat belts," Saxon said.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—All the glowing reports of the "new" South and the golden economic future for the Sunbelt South heard a few years ago have not rubbed off on that historically problem area of the nation, the rural South.

The economic plight of the rural south, of which Mississippi is a significant part, has evidently worsened during the Reagan years and informed Southern observers now see no light at the end of the tunnel.

This was the bleak news that came out of a study called "Shadows in the Sunbelt," released last week in Atlanta by a panel of distinguished Southerners that included former Gov. William Winter of Mississippi.

It was the first stage of a broader study being conducted by the Commission on the Future of the South, which Winter chairs as a result of his close connection with the Southern Growth Policies Board.

As has become sorely apparent in Mississippi, the rural South has not shared in the recovery of the national economy which began when the 1982 recession had bottomed out.

Among the grim statistics are the loss of more than 95,000 textile jobs and 16,000 jobs in the apparel industry in the Southeast since 1980, the vast majority of them from rural areas.

While employment has been on the increase in the metropolitan areas of the South in the past three years, it has declined in the rural areas. The only improvement has come in rural communities closest to metropolitan centers or with access to major interstate highways.

"This is a familiar pattern in Mississippi as it has been all over the South," Winter observed, "the only areas in our state, for instance that have been doing relatively well are the five or six such as the Memphis-Tupelo area, the Columbus-Starkville area, the Jackson-Meridian area, the Hattiesburg area and the Gulf Coast. But not much is happening in the rest of the state, and of course, with the farm situation, the Delta is a disaster area."

As the "Shadows in the Sunbelt" study pointed out, at the same time as the rural South has faced harsh economic setbacks, federal support for rural economic development has been sharply reduced and still other federal programs face elimination.

Budget cuts made during the Reagan administration have cost state and local governments in the South a cumulative $20 billion since 1980. Another 20 percent in cuts by 1987 are projected under the Gramm-Rudman bill for programs that would help the rural areas.

"There is no outside help we can look to which can bail us out," Winter declared, "So this means we've got to depend more upon our own resources."

Between 1959 and 1977, 1.1 million manufacturing jobs were created in the rural South, mainly in textiles, apparel, furniture, leather and electrical equipment assembly.

This influx began to slow in the latter 70's, and now the factors which had made the rural South attractive have now been lost in changing economic circumstances.

In short, said the report: "For the past several years the trends in manufacturing have become increasingly stacked against rural communities." Even those manufacturing industries which had traditionally favored the rural South now favor the urban areas of the South.

No longer can the rural South fall back on agriculture to shore up its economy, either. The "Shadow" study observes that like their counterparts in the Midwest, "Southern farmers must contend with falling domestic commodity prices and lost access to overseas markets, along with the burdens caused by high production costs and falling land values."

If the decay of the rural South is to be stemmed, the key will come from local initiative and the assistance of states, the panel of Southern leaders concluded. The common thread of finding alternatives economic development, the group said, "is a local or regional organization which knows the area and involves a cross-section of its citizens."

A greater challenge faces local banks in Mississippi Winter observed, to providing more investment capital for local business ventures. That may be forced on small town banks by the new statewide banking law, he said.

Only the rural areas that have the local leadership capability are going to get ahead, Winter believes. And the others aren't going to make it.

Inspection sticker should require inspection

Dear Editor:

I think I know how Pandora must have felt when she opened the box given her by Zeus and let out human ills. I opened such a box last week!

It was not woman's curiosity that caused me to open my box. I opened it because the inspection sticker on my car's windshield had expired, and what I wanted was a car inspection—not just a sticker.

I have found actual car inspections hard to come by. Attendants have said: "That will be $2.50 please," and slap a little sticker on my windshield—good for a year!

Here is what I have been told: It actually takes a deal of time to really inspect a car. There is no profit in making an inspection when mechanics are charging about $32 per hour for their services. I have also been told that the majority of car owners really don't want an inspection either because they feel their automobile couldn't pass inspection—or that the mechanics were dishonest and would "sell them an expensive bill of goods" in way of unneeded repairs or replacements.

It is not my intention to get caught up in a "pro or con" on prevailing inspection sticker practices. The inspection of cars periodically would seem a good prevention of accidents—maybe fatal ones. But to simply have a little piece of paper about 2 1/4" x 3 1/4" stuck on your windshield is meaningless and the height of folly.

Either, it would seem to me, we need to have an authorized person to actually inspect our cars before applying the sticker, or we should repeal a law that isn't enforced. Without this little label attached to a car owner's windshield he could be pulled out of traffic, given a ticket, and fined. The unanswered question:

Does a sticker on a windshield mean that the car has passed a safety check? Quite an interesting and active can of worms!

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

IMPORTANT FOR MISSISSIPPI

You hear so much talk about economic development in our state and how far behind we are. But I am presenting you some good news today. Since January of 1984, when I took office, through March of 1986, we have gained a total of 45,000 net new jobs in nonagricultural fields. This figure compares with the 40,000 jobs lost in the previous four years in our State.

The jobs have been gained through an aggressive campaign to assist local industries in expanding or, even in some dire cases, reopening after experiencing bad economic times in the four previous years, by the Department of Economic Development.

Of the new jobs gained 8,300 were in manufacturing and 36,700 were in nonmanufacturing. The largest categories in nonmanufacturing were service areas, with 10,400 jobs, and trade, with 11,200 jobs.

During 1985 alone, the Industrial Division of the Department of Economic Development notes that we had a 40 percent increase in the number of announced expansions of industries.

The cities enjoying new industrial locations included Olive Branch, Jackson, Tupelo, Gulfport, Meridian, Europa and Brookhaven. Cities with major expansions are Pascagoula, Waveland, Moss Point and Jackson.

In addition, our Department of Economic Development worked with the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs and the private sector to find funding sources for industries that had been closed during the recession. One such example is Orleans Furniture Company in Columbia, where the closing meant some 800 jobs to the people of Marion County. Last year, these three groups came together to reopen the plant and they are now re-employing many of the people who had previously lost their jobs.

In addition to these activities, the Department of Economic Development and Governor's Office are working very closely on securing more industry for Mississippi.

I cannot tell you how close we came to luring the Japanese and their Toyota plant to north Mississippi. We are meeting with a group of Korean business representatives about the possibilities of locating something in Mississippi.

I could attend a plant groundbreaking, dedication, or ribbon-cutting almost every day in Mississippi; and I do attend many of them.

All of this is testimony to the fact that our State is growing economically. We are creating the proper climate for businesses to locate in Mississippi. As I have said so many times, government merely creates the climate for businesses; businesses create the jobs.

Dogs earn their keep

By Eva Ann Dorris
Cooperative Extension
Everyone knows a loyal dog is man's best friend, but most people aren't aware that a loyal dog can also be man's best employee.

David and Eric Rogers of Stone County claim their registered border collies are some of the best workers they have.

The Rogers own a 600-head cattle operation and annually run about 2,500 contract calves through their preconditioning operation.

Most cattle producers with as many animals would probably resort to riding horses as the best means to maintain cattle. The Rogers have tried horses and are convinced their border collies can do the work more quickly and efficiently.

According to David, there is a tremendous amount of work that good dogs can and want to do.

"We don't do anything with the cattle that the dogs don't help with," he said. "They are versatile enough to work in the pasture and in the pens. In fact, the dogs move so quickly in the pasture that we can't always keep up with them."

One of the many chores of the dogs includes daily checks on new calves. As David and Eric scan the herd from the cab of the truck, the dogs ride in the back waiting for commands.

When the brothers spot several calves they want to get back to the barn to medicate, David simply commands the dogs to get out of the truck and go behind the herd.

The dogs are each trained to respond to different commands. Their signal for action may be words or whistles, but for each dog, the words and whistles are different. One of the dogs even responds to Spanish commands.

As David drives the truck slowly behind the cattle, he relays commands to the dogs. One dog may push the calves right, while another prods them forward. Each dog works with the others to single out the needed calves and drive them to the pen.

Within minutes, the weak calves are in the catch pen with the dogs carefully stationed at the gap. There is no danger of the calves getting out. The dogs will not leave the opening until the gate is closed.

But the dogs' responsibilities don't end there. All David must do is change commands and the dogs run the selected calves into the chute for medication and back into the pen when the chute is opened.

Such events are common on the Rogers' farm. David and Eric depend on the dogs for almost every aspect of their cattle operation.

"Most people in the beef cattle business are trained to use horses to work their animals," David said. "But, horses just aren't as versatile as dogs. They don't move quietly and they spook the cows which increases the cows' weight loss due to stress."

According to David, border collies have been bred for centuries to work with livestock. They have the ability to push the animals at the right place and at the right time.

The partners estimate the dogs save them $3,000 to $4,000 a year in labor and preventing stress weight loss to cattle.

David trains his own dogs. In 1983, three of his dogs claimed first, second and third places at the National Championship of the American Border Collie Registry at the American Grand Finals.

David said the most important thing to remember about training dogs is to build the dog's confidence.

"If you put a young dog in with brood cows for the first time, and it gets kicked, it may lose its confidence," he said. "You have got to be easy with young dogs."

David starts training his dogs when they are about a year old. He starts them out by letting them work sheep. He owns a flock of sheep just for this purpose.

"It is also important in training dogs to let them know when they have done right or wrong," David said. "They have a learning process just like humans. They learn good and bad all of their lives."

David recommends that if someone is really serious about using border collies on his cattle operation, he needs to choose a dog carefully.

He also discourages buying border collies just for house pets. The animals are bred for work. They have a lot of energy and a strong working instinct.

It is not unusual for the Rogers' to work 16-hour days, so they take five or six dogs to the farm every day.

"Each dog is a little better at certain things than the others," David said. "I may use three dogs to get the calves penned and then signal for different dogs to help run the calves through the chute."

Whatever the Rogers are doing, it is sure to include the dogs if it involves cattle.

"Handling cattle without using dogs is like trying to raise 100 acres of corn without a tractor," David said. "There is so much work these dogs can do to save time and money."

FOREIGN AID IS STILL A MESS

It makes no sense to me that the United States must financially underwrite our friends and our enemies in countries all over the world. But we do just that in Central and South America, in Europe, in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Africa.

You would think that over the course of the past few years, we would have learned our lesson—that you cannot buy friends—and cut down on the amount and the expense of foreign aid.

The U.S. has made significant gains in foreign policy and enjoys a respect throughout the world that was absent less than a decade ago. These gains have come primarily as a result of the foreign policy initiatives of President Reagan who has shown time and time again that he will make the hard decisions and act where national security interests are at stake.

America's foreign policy has gotten away from the ridiculous so-called "human rights" paranoia of the Carter Administration where human rights were code words for beating up on our friends and rolling over for our enemies.

I am pleased as well that we have made positive gains in other areas of foreign policy. The U.S. has re-ordered most foreign aid priorities away from giving millions of dollars to countries for economic assistance to structuring the aid programs toward helping the recipient countries establish their own economies and defend themselves from enemies who threaten their governments.

FARMWEEK

In a program to air at 7:30 p.m., May 26, on Mississippi ETV, "Farmweek" will repeat its three earlier May features on outstanding Mississippi farmers.

Tyson Gair will talk with Yazoo County farmer Sonny Baskin, recently chosen Mississippi Farmer of the Year, about his successful use of new production techniques. Dr. James B. Wood's cattle farm in Waynesboro will again be highlighted, as he displays some of his quality Red Brahman purebreds.

Madison County Farmer Clifton Goodloe Jr. will outline the steps that have helped him survive the current agricultural crisis. Goodloe operates a successful cotton and cattle farm.

"Farmweek" reporters, in another segment of the program, will discuss a new kind of winter grazing program for small, part-time cattle operators. The program enables these farmers to band together and take advantage of higher spring prices for winter calves.

Also included on the program will be current farm prices, market analyses,

Television movie filming to get underway in Natchez-Vicksburg

JACKSON—The Mississippi Department of Economic Development Film Office, along with the Natchez Film Commission, reports that the two-hour made-for-television movie 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' will begin production in Mississippi on June 3, 1988. 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' produced by Edgar Scherick and Associates for Showtime Television, will have a four-week shooting schedule with principal photography locations in Natchez and at least one day of filming in Vicksburg.

The executive producer of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' is Edgar Scherick; Producer Jeff Nelson; Associate Producer Mark Wolper; and Director Stan Lathan. Lathan, best known for directing the Orion Pictures 1984 release 'Beat Street,' has also directed such films as 'Go Tell It On The Mountain' written by James Baldwin, and 'The Sky Is Gray' by Ernest Gaines, as well as numerous dramatic television series.

The classic abolitionist story, 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was written by Harriet Beecher Stowe and was adapted for television by John Gay.

This moralistic story about slavery features classic depictions of good and evil centered around Simon Legree, an evil slaveholder, and Tom, a courageous, Christ-like victim of slavery.

"We are very pleased that Mississippi is involved with the filming of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,'" says MDED Film Office Director John Horn, "especially since this adaptation of Harriet Beecher Stowe's story dispels the myth of who 'Uncle Tom' really was."

The Mississippi Department of Economic Development, along with the Natchez Film Commission, also announces an open casting call for actors and extras to appear in 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'.

The open casting call will be held on Sunday, May 18 from 12 to 5 p.m. at the Sheraton Hotel in Natchez. Edna Joseph of Natchez will coordinate the casting call.

The State of Mississippi has been allocated approximately 21 million dollars that will be made available to cities and counties on a competitive basis to undertake eligible community development activities. These funds must be used for one of the following purposes:

1. To benefit low and moderate income persons; or
  2. To aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or

Busted Companion Animal Veterinarian Award

Chicago — On May 5, 1988, William French McCulloch, DVM, MPH, was named the first winner of a prestigious new award called the Busted Companion Animal Veterinarian Award co-sponsored by the American Veterinary Medical Association and The Delta Society. Dr. McCulloch received the honor at a special luncheon here, timed to coincide with the start of National Pet Week which ran from May 4-10.

Leading figures in the human/animal bond movement attended the event to personally honor Dr. McCulloch, who teaches at the College of Veterinary Medicine and directs the Center for Comparative Medicine at Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

Dr. McCulloch's selection saluted his inspiring work to promote the concept that the bond between people and animals is socially significant, and worthy of incorporation into the curricula of veterinarians, public health workers, psychologists, therapists and others. Specifically, he has brought new thinking to the areas of animal-facilitated therapy, pets in public housing, animal control, public health and the need for teamwork and interdisciplinary efforts in understanding the human/animal bond.

Saluting him, Dr. Leo K. Bustad, President of the Delta Society said, "In reviewing Dr. McCulloch's record, I recall the days when we were just getting started and Dr. McCulloch's inspiration and dedication helped create our firm foundation. The Delta Society, and indeed the whole human/animal bond movement, could not have come this far without his many contributions."

Coast vet addresses wildlife group

Dr. Karen Rushing, coast veterinarian, microbiologist, and raptor specialist, addressed the May 15 meeting of Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society on "Emergency Care For Wildlife."

She reminded those present to use every precaution to avoid injury to the handler of wild animals.

"Always wash your hands and disinfect, and know how to handle the animals you are caring for. If you don't know how, don't try it. Get someone who does know how."

She also said it's best for a pregnant woman not to handle animals unless she first tests positive for certain antibodies.

Dr. Rushing emphasized that people caring for wild animals, birds or mammals, need federal permits and should have training and experience in wildlife rehabilitation.

WRANPS will offer a seminar late this summer for those interested in learning wildlife rehabilitation.

WRANPS will display a slide show and educational material June 21 at Edgewater Mall to promote awareness of the need to protect and preserve wildlife and the environment and to introduce people to the work WRANPS does.

Waveland zoning board hears variance requests

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Planning and Zoning Board has approved two recommendations regarding variances for residential additions.

The board is scheduled to present its recommendations to the Waveland Board of Aldermen at its June 3 meeting.

The board will recommend that variances requested by T.G. Andressen of 115 Alken Road be approved. The variances include a 13-foot rear yard variance and two-foot side yard variances needed to make room for an addition to an existing residence on the property.

Also discussed at Monday's zoning board meeting was a variance request taken under advisement at a previous meeting.

The board agreed to recommend that Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Crowley's request for a rear yard variance of 12 feet, six inches be denied.

The variance had been requested for a covered breezeway, but was recommended for denial because the structure would extend to about two feet from the property line.

In a written statement, the owner of the adjacent property, James M. Walley Jr., had objected to any structure located not more than three feet from the property line.

The board meets again June 30 at 5 p.m.

Woman honored by publication

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America awards program report Renee Bourgeois Harman and Joyce Marie Lee, both of Bay St. Louis, have been selected for inclusion in the 1985 edition of 'Outstanding Young Women of America'.

Now in its 21st year, the Outstanding Young Women of America program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, their professions, and their communities.

Accomplishments such as these are the result of dedication, service and leadership - qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered.

This is the goal of the many leading women's organizations, college alumni associates, and public officials who nominate deserving young women to participate in the program.

Serving as chairman of the program's Advisory Board is Mrs. Margaret Long Arnold, honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The women listed, along with approximately 26,000 fellow Outstanding Young Women of America from across the United States, will be presented in the prestigious annual awards volume.

In addition, they were also considered for one of the fifty-one state awards presented to those women who have made the most noteworthy contributions in their individual states.

From these fifty-one state winners, the Ten Outstanding Young Women of America were chosen, and these ten national winners were then honored at the annual awards luncheon held this past January in Washington, DC.

Shrimp season to open

The Mississippi Commission on Wildlife Conservation has ordered that the 1986 shrimp season on the Coast of Mississippi should open on the 4th day of June at 10 a.m.

This includes all waters controlled by the State of Mississippi in the Gulf of Mexico and the Mississippi Sound except for those waters with one-half mile of the shoreline of Hancock, Harrison, Jackson Counties and the barrier islands.

Dr. Richard L. Leard, director of the Bureau of Marine Resources, said, "Anyone not knowing exactly where the boundaries were located for the taking of shrimp, should visit one of the offices of the Bureau of Marine Resources and pick up a copy of the legal order, opening the shrimp season."

Dr. Leard pointed out that the boundaries for the taking of shrimp were located on this order and the copy was available at no charge.

Information released by the Fisheries Division of the Bureau of Marine Resources, according to Dr. Leard, indicates there should be a very good season this year for the shrimp industry.

Pitcher wins 'outstanding' in Babe Ruth

Alcan Cable's short stop-pitcher Benny Tillemann is 'Player of the Week' in the Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth League.

Tillemann was selected after an opening week of play in which Alcan split with a loss to Rotary 10-9 Thursday and a win over American Legion 15-9 Friday in the league's 14- and 15-year-old bracket.

Tillemann pitched seven strikeouts in five innings against Rotary, hit four for five for an .800 average at the plate, scored three runs, batted in one and is credited with two putouts.

Supervisors Sam Pernicaro of District Four and Roger Dale Ladner of District Three, as well as Chancery Court Clerk Michael Necaice participated in opening day ceremonies Wednesday, May 14.

In the first game of the season on opening day, Waveland American Legion bested Southern Printing of Pass Christian 5-3 in the 13-year-old division.

Winning pitcher was Leo Acker and losing pitcher was Charles Lizana.

Leading hitters were Scott Barnes and Freddie West of American Legion with one hit each, and Scott Niolet and Don Wahl of Southeren, also with one hit apiece.

In Wednesday's second game, the 14- and 15-year-olds of Hancock Bank defeated American Legion Post 139 10-3.

The win is credited to Lloyd Nicaud and the loss to Bert Dean.

Wildcats close winning baseball season

POPLARVILLE—The Pearl River College baseball season came to a close last week as the Wildcats closed out the '86 campaign with another impressive record of 33-23.

Although the season was a success for the Wildcats and head coach Ned Eades, the Wildcats were once again stopped from gaining a berth in the state playoffs. The Wildcats ended the season with an 18-10 conference mark which left them in third place behind Elmdale and Gulf Coast.

"We really felt like this would be the year that we could break through and get into the playoffs," said coach Eades.

The end result to the Wildcats being left out of the playoffs was due to the lack of pitching. The Wildcats concluded the season with only two starting pitchers and three pitchers who came in for relief purposes. Randy Sandifer finished the season with a very impressive 8-3 mark, thus bringing his career record at the River to 15-3. Mike McElroy the other full-time pitcher for the Wildcats finished with an 8-7 ledger.

Former Poplarville standout David Cowart was the big relief man for the Wildcats as he posted a 5-1 mark while picking up five saves. Cowart finished the season with a very impressive ERA of 1.44.

Offensively the Wildcats were led by Everette Reagan who ended with a .433 batting average including nine home runs. Jason Martin was next in line for the Wildcats as he ended the season with a .391 average with seven home runs and 37 RBI's. Britt Baxter was the home run leader for the Wildcats as he finished his career with 11 round trippers and 37 RBI's.

As a team the Wildcats batted .323 which included 351 singles, 84 doubles and seven triples. As a unit the Wildcats belted out 53 home runs.

Gone from this year's team will be first baseman Britt Baxter, second baseman Martin Dominique, center fielder Everette Reagan, right fielder Tony Banta, DH Jason Wesley, and pitchers Sandifer and McElroy.

State parks offer vacation opportunities

Despite the popular notion that vacations must be expensive or involve considerable travel, more than 5 million persons are finding each year that Mississippi State Parks offer some of the most enjoyable and inexpensive vacation opportunities to be found anywhere, according to the Governor's Service Line.

"I've traveled internationally, and yet some of the best vacations I've had have been in Mississippi," said Sara Dickson, Service Line supervisor. "There's a tendency for us to take our state's beauty for granted, and many Mississippians are not aware of the varied vacation opportunities at our state parks."

Many state parks provide bicycle rentals, boat launching facilities, camp stores, canoe and boat rentals, fishing facilities, activity buildings, laundry facilities, miniature golf, nature trails, picnic areas, playground equipment, athletic playing fields, restaurants, snack bars, swimming facilities, tennis courts, water skiing facilities, vacation cabins and tent camping areas.

"Because of their proximity, state parks can keep your travel expenses low, and, once you're at a state park, you usually can save considerable money on lodging," Ms. Dickson said.

"Cabin rentals, for example, range from $16 to $60 per night," she noted, "and the $60 cabins can accommodate as many as 11 people. All state park cabins are equipped with sheets, blankets and kitchen utensils."

"Most of the 27 parks have camping facilities, and electrical, water and sewage hookups cost $10.50 per day," Ms. Dickson said.

She noted that, when individuals vacation at state parks, the state also benefits. "The economic impact is $60 to $80 per day for each person camping or using state park cabin facilities when food, souvenir and other purchases are considered."

"Unfortunately, however, there's also a dark side of the picture," Ms. Dickson said. "Because of the financial problems facing Mississippi, state parks must be able to contain costs. There's a strong possibility that nine of our state parks will have to be closed."

"The grim reality is that, if sufficient numbers of persons do not take advantage of specific state parks, the opportunity to do so will be lost," she said.

The Governor's Service Line is suggesting that Mississippians seriously consider the beauty and facilities of state parks when they make vacation plans. It's almost an "everybody wins" situation. You can have a fun-packed, inexpensive vacation, and you'll be helping the state to help you by keeping your state parks open."

Further information on Mississippi's State Parks and other state services may be obtained by contacting the Governor's Service Line at 354-4540 in the Jackson area or toll-free from other areas, 1-800-222-7622.

Each year, the Service Line responds to more than 25,000 calls.

Bureau of Marine Resources—Newsletter

RED DRUM TAGGING

Division of Saltwater Fisheries biologists in cooperation with Gulf Coast Research Laboratory scientists with the assistance of Clark Seafood equipment and personnel conducted a one-day red drum tagging experiment.

The exercise involved the tagging of some 200 redfish in the vicinity of Horn Island Pass. Each fish was weighed and a scale sample obtained prior to release.

The results of this and other planned tagging work are expected to provide information on the migration, growth and population size of red drum stocks in Mississippi Sound and adjacent waters.

Anglers catching any fish tagged in the abdomen with either blue or red spaghetti tags are asked to contact the Bureau of Marine Resources, Division of Saltwater Fisheries (601) 864-4802.

The tag number and location of capture are needed; and, if possible, total length and weight of the fish, as well as a scale sample taken from the fish's belly are also requested.

SPORTSFISHING NEWS

Of interest to local sport-fishermen, warming water temperatures have brought with them the long-awaited seasonal influx of spotted seatrout, red drum and lemonfish. An added bonus,

Spanish mackerel, which usually do not make their appearance until later this month, are already filling the stringers of fishermen all along the front beaches and particularly in and around the barrier island passes. May proves to be an exciting month indeed for Mississippi saltwater anglers.

SALTWATER SPORTSFISHING LICENSE

Among major policy initiatives in the proposed Federal budget is a surprise for saltwater fishermen in the form of a federal saltwater sportfishing license. The $10.00 fee being proposed would be divided equally between Federal and state fisheries management agencies and would allow Mississippi fishermen to use this transferable license while fishing in Louisiana waters.

LIVE BAIT DEALER'S LICENSES

For the 1986 fishing season, the Bureau of Marine Resources has received thirty requests and applications for live bait dealer's licenses. In order to qualify for this license, applicants are required to meet rigid guidelines that include specific operating hours, minimum holding tank and aeration specifications, and the possession of no more than twenty pounds of dead shrimp at any one time.

FEDERAL ACTION TAKEN

In a recent National Marine

Fisheries Service Newsletter, it was announced that the total allowable catch for the Atlantic migratory group of king mackerel for the fishing year beginning April 1, 1986, is 9.8 million pounds, an 18 percent reduction from the present allocation.

The move was needed to help ensure the prevention of overfishing while still allowing an acceptable catch by sports and commercial fishermen.

Further information regarding this federal action can be obtained by calling William N. Lindall at 813/893-3722.

PASCAGOULA RECEIVES $8,000

At their April meeting, the Commission on Wildlife Conservation approved funding, through the Bureau's office of Ocean and Coastal Resource Management Grant, for the "Scranton Floating Museum."

The funds will be used by the city to continue and expand the educational services of the Scranton. Specifically, the funding will be used for the following: a publicity and promotion campaign to encourage greater use of the facility, installation of an audio visual system in the Scranton, provide a live exhibit (touch tank) of coastal sea creatures, installation of support equipment for the curator and for the necessary protection of the facility itself and for the continuation of the existing staff.

This grant is being matched by $1,500 from the City of Pascagoula. WESTLAND DIVISION MONITORS SEISMIC WORK

Chris Snyder of the Wetlands Division monitored the seismic work being performed by Western Geophysical in the Mississippi Sound South of Pass Christian.

Western Geophysical was using air guns as an energy source and Snyder reported that the operations did not cause any damage to the natural bottoms.

VIOLATIONS REPORTED

Wetlands personnel reported several violations of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Law during April. Persons who violate the law are subject to fines and penalties and may be required to restore damaged wetlands areas. If you have any doubt about the necessity for permits you are advised to contact the BMR Wetlands Division at 864-4802.

BILOXI BACON AQUACULTURE POTENTIAL?

Mississippi has the good fortune of being first in aquaculture production, one of the few areas in which she leads the nation.

However, the aquaculture industry and university and research institutions have yet to provide an affordable fish for the majority of her residents.

Our state is famous for having the lowest per capita income in the United States. Unfortunately, our research has only addressed cash crops or luxury fish items.

The other side of the spectrum warrants investigation—the fish that are most efficient energy converters are planktivores and are usually the lowest priced fish in the marketplace.

But when raised in a cellular polyculture with catfish, prawns and aquatic vegetables as practiced in Taiwan and Israel, it can be a valuable fish indeed.

Our own Biloxi Bacon, the humble mullet, which served as a staple to the early settlers of this region, is a planktivore and is deserving of more research on its culture and processing.

Striped mullet, Mugil Cephalas, called grey mullet in the Pacific and Lisa in Europe is found in nearly all the seas on Earth.

There is a worldwide market for the mullet and several countries have shown interest in the local fish.

During a period of only 20 years the local price has risen 2000 percent from $.05/lb. to over $1/lb.

Unfortunately, the limited research done in Hawaii on mullet showed it to be a slow growing fish and interest waned.

However, mullet here may well be a different genetic strain unlike the Hawaiian fish which were from the clear waters of the islands.

Does Biloxi Bacon deserve investigation for its aquaculture potential? Why not?

Legion kids fishing rodeo set June 14

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Second Annual Kids Fishing Rodeo sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 is scheduled for Saturday, June 14.

Roy Dedeaux is chairman of the saltwater fishing rodeo which is open to children up to age 13.

There will be trophies for the largest fish in nine saltwater categories, in addition to second and third place prizes, Dedeaux said.

There will also be many other prizes for participants, with some being donated by local businesses.

The fishing rodeo will be from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. and registration will be at the rodeo headquarters at the American Legion's Memorial Pier, Washington Street and Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

"There will be no entry fee and registrations will be conducted during the rodeo hours from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.," Dedeaux stated.

Fishing boundaries will be along Beach Boulevard from the mouth of the Jourdan River to Bayou Cadet from the shore and piers only, with no boat fishing, the chairman added.

Free hot dogs and cokes will be for all participants.

The fishing rodeo committee consists of Dedeaux, Myron Oliver, co-chairman; Noel Gilliam, weighmaster; with committee members Commander Billy Taylor, and Billy Moran.

Dedeaux stated, "This is an American Legion project for the youth of our area, and many members of Post No. 139. The event was successful in 1985, and it is hoped there will be many more participants on June 14."

BASEBALL TRIVIA

Q. What baseball club had a fan so loyal that he sat on a flagpole in their behalf for 117 days?

A. The Cleveland Indians. In 1949, Charley Lupica spent from May 31, when Cleveland was in fourth place, to September 25, when they were mathematically eliminated from the pennant race, perched atop a flagpole in a fruitless effort waiting for Cleveland to regain first place. What better place to get a view of the city of Cleveland?

Q. What was the last team that had all three starting outfielders top the 100 RBI mark in the same season? A. The 1984 Boston Red Sox. Center fielder Tony Armas had 123 RBIs, left fielder Jim Rice added 121, and right fielder Dwight Evans drove in 104.

Q. Who has the largest collection of major league baseball cards in the world? A. The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City has nearly 100,000 cards!

Mississippi leads nation in wildlife acres

JACKSON — Mississippi farmers and landowners will soon get another chance to improve wildlife habitat on their land, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

From May 5-16 landowners can sign up to participate in the national Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), a feature of the 1985 farm bill allowing farmers to convert erodible land from row crop production to permanent cover for 10 years in return for federal payments.

In addition to these payments, participants will be reimbursed partially for the one-time costs for establishing required cover crops or trees on the retired acres. These cover crops are planted to reduce erosion and benefit wildlife.

Working with the Soil Conservation Service, the Department of Wildlife Conservation has developed guidelines for wildlife plantings used in the CRP.

DWC biologists will be available to assist landowners and Department of Agriculture personnel in developing a conservation plan for each participating landowner.

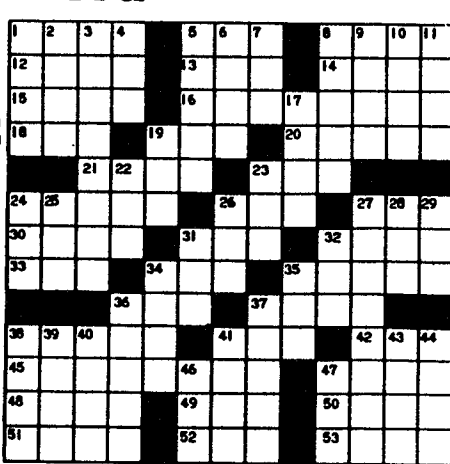

Department of Agriculture figures show Mississippi leads the nation in the number of acres signed up for wildlife habitat in the CRP during the March sign up period.

Those interested in participating in the CRP should contact their County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office for more details.

USM Classic Rodeo scheduled

HATTIESBURG— More than 300 professional cowboys and cowgirls from around the nation are expected to compete for a $15,000 purse and sanctioned championship points at three performances of the University of Southern Mississippi Coca-Cola Classic Rodeo.

Many contending, current and former world champions will compete May 23-25 in seven approved contests: bareback, calf-roping, steer-wrestling, saddle bronc-riding, barrel-racing, bull-riding and one other event. The rodeo will be held at the USM Equestrian Center.

The Harper and Morgan Rodeo Company of Lauderdale, Miss., and Iowa, La., are known for their colorful productions and outstanding livestock.

The rodeo competitive events, acts and contestants are presented in an informative, yet laid-back manner, by rodeo announcer Phil Gardenhire of Heavener, Okla. Phil's smooth voice blends well with his unique approach of announcing the rodeo from horseback in the arena.

Master comedian Lecile Harris of Memphis, Tenn., will provide the laughs in between and during the competitive events. Harris' character continually interrupts the rodeo with his routines that combine magic, slapstick, and character comedies with an original flavor reminiscent of old vaudeville. Harris brings 30 years of entertainment experience that includes musical, Hollywood movies and television roles.

To the fine tuned rodeo fan, the rodeo's quality depends on the caliber of its bucking horses and bulls. Harper and Morgan Rodeo company's bucking string is topped off with two outstanding champion horses. As chosen by the PRCA livestock producers themselves, the company was awarded and owns both the 1984 Saddle Bronc Horse of the National Finals Rodeo and this year's Bareback Horse of the NFR.

For information call Sid Consoulin at (601) 268-2251 or Ken Knopp at (318) 582-7444.

ANTOINE BOYD of Waveland shows a 35-pound black drum fish he caught last week in the bay between the bridges near the end of the Ulman Avenue Pier. Boyd said he used shrimp as bait and a 10 pound test Dupont line. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Planned to begin June 16 and end Aug. 4, the program is a cooperative effort between USM, Alcorn State, several chemical industries and school districts in Mississippi,

Howell said this is the third year the program has been funded. The only change incorporated into the program this year is the increased emphasis on teachers helping teachers.

Each participant, Howell explained, is required to return to their school and hold in-service sessions for other teachers. "It is more of a leadership workshop where more is expected of the teachers once they return to their classrooms," he added.

Garden Guidelines

AMERICAN HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

DEVELOPING A CHILDREN'S GARDEN

Gardening can provide children with a valuable experience, but how does the parent, the grandparent or the friend next door best introduce the exciting world of plants to these bundles of energy? Experiences with children's gardens at the American Horticultural Society's River Farm offer some tried approaches — we hope that you will be enticed into giving gardening with children a try!

The first step is to decide what type of garden to plant, and the age and abilities of your budding horticulturist will make that determination for you. The garden complexity can range from simple to grandiose, from a small planter holding a single plant to a large bed replete with a trellised playhouse.

As you prepare to involve your child in gardening, keep in mind that the road to success is found in sustaining the interest of that child, in keeping that child involved and excited. This is not as impossible as it may sound!

First, the child must be involved in every phase of garden creation, maintenance and harvesting, from selecting the garden site to preparing the harvest for the dinner table.

Second, the garden must be exciting throughout the growing seasons. Use seed and plants that will give quick results, provide copious bloom or bountiful harvest. Fruits and vegetables such as strawberries, cherry tomatoes, popcorn, Swiss chard, brightly colored peppers and peas with edible pods are great. Flowering plants such as tall sunflowers, marigolds, zinnias, pansies and waxed begonias are excellent as well.

Consider, also, a "living" enclosure, a trellised structure that, when draped with flowering and fruiting vines, becomes a special little hideaway — a private place for playing, thinking and dreaming. If this latter point interests you, you can acquire a set of plans for the structure used in the River Farm Children's Garden by sending $1.00 with your name and address to: Children's Gardens, American Horticultural Society, P. O. Box 0106, Mount Vernon, VA 22121.

Whatever you do, don't let another year pass without taking the time to introduce your special little one to the joys of gardening!

(The above article was written by Steven Davis, Director of the Department of Horticulture, the American Horticultural Society. Mr. Davis developed the children's gardens at River Farm working with local elementary school students.)

Aquarium raises admission fees

State funding reductions for Gulf Coast Research Laboratory have necessitated some changes in admission fees at the J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi, according to MEC curator Gerald C. Cocoran.

Effective since May 15, admission charges are $2 for adults; $1 for children ages 3-16 and senior citizens over 65, and 50 cents for members of school groups who contact the MEC in advance. Admission is free for children under 3 years old.

The funding cuts have also forced discontinuation of the MEC's free admission policy on the last Wednesday of the month.

Contact the Marine Education Center at 374-5550 for further information.

First summer session begins June 2 at UM

The 1986 summer session begins Monday, June 2, at The University of Mississippi and interested students still have time to register for classes.

The deadline for undergraduate registration is June 2 for the first term, which runs June 2 - July 2. Students enrolling in full-session classes, which begin June 2 and conclude August 6, must also register by June 2. The deadline for second session courses, offered July 7 - August 6, is July 7. Graduate students may register June 2-9.

Cost for up to three semester hours of instruction is $46 per semester hour. Students taking more than three semester hours are charged $31.50 per hour. Out-of-state students enrolled in summer session classes are not charged a non-resident fee.

Persons who hold Mississippi teaching certificates and who wish to upgrade their certificates in mathematics, science, foreign languages or computer science may enroll, without paying tuition, in summer session courses leading to certification in these areas. Tuition-free courses are offered on a space-available basis only and are not offered at off-campus centers.

For more information on the summer session at Ole Miss, contact the University's Office of Admissions, University, MS 38677; telephone (601) 232-7226 or toll-free in Mississippi, 1-800-222-5102.

STUDENT HONORED— Dr. Don Avery, right, USM advertising program director, congratulates Thomas Gibbons of Bay St. Louis, member of a University of Southern Mississippi Advertising team recently recognized for winning first place in Southeastern Region competition of the American Advertising Federation. USM's ad team defeated eight teams, including well-established teams at the University of Georgia, University of Alabama-Tuscaloosa, University of Tennessee and Louisiana State University. It was the first time a team from Mississippi entered the AAF competition and the first time a first-time participant won. The USM team will present its winning ad campaign in national AAF competition in Chicago June 14.

UNO summer fee hikes announced

University of New Orleans special summer term fee increases of $50 for Louisiana residents and $100 for non-residents were approved by the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors Friday, May 16.

UNO Chancellor Cooper R. Mackin, who said that the fee increases are for the summer term only, emphasized that the university does not plan to request an increase in resident fees for the upcoming fall or spring semesters.

"The special summer fee increases were requested in order to offset the reduction in state appropriations to higher education," said Mackin.

Noting that the Board of Regents has recommended that universities offering summer school either reduce the length of their summer term session and/or increase student fees to lessen the financial impact, the UNO chancellor said:

"We have given careful consideration to both of these suggestions and have come to the conclusion that a substantial reduction of course offerings or a shorter session would be a disservice to our students.

"Uno's summer session is large and vital to the New Orleans area. Last summer we had an enrollment of 8,000 students. These included many of the 7,000 part-time students enrolled in the fall who also hold jobs and are committed to working toward their degrees on a year-round basis. It also included many teachers who can only attend classes during the summer months.

"Our summer session is also already very concentrated, with students studying in a seven-week period material that is covered in twice that time in the fall and spring semesters.

"We thus reluctantly elected to raise the fees as slightly as possible, thereby both meeting the needs of our students and complying with the Board of Regents' recommendation to make the summer school session self-supporting."

Chancellor Mackin estimated that the additional revenues generated from the fee increases will come to some $270,000. In addition, he said, the university expects to save an estimated $100,000 through reductions in the summer session budget.

The new summer term fees, which are increased proportionately for part-time students, are as follows:

Louisiana resident undergraduate and graduate students: one to three semester hours, $250; four to five hours, $360; six hours or more, $437.

Non-resident undergraduate students: one to three hours, $520; four to five semester hours, $720; six hours or more, $900.

Non-resident graduate students: one to three semester hours, 405; four to five semester hours, $545; six semester hours or more, $730.

Mackin added that a summer school student carrying six or more semester hours is considered full-time.

UNO is the urban university of the Louisiana State University System.

Experts agree: Certified Angus Beef is the tenderest, best tasting beef in America. And now, by special arrangement with the American Angus Association this top quality beef is available to you exclusively at National Super Markets.

ONLY ONE IN FOUR IS GOOD ENOUGH
The Certified Angus Beef stamp of approval carries such high quality standards that only one in four, just 25% of all the Angus cattle tested, are accepted. By contrast, the USDA Choice rating is given to 90% of all beef graded. Even beef advertised as "Black Angus" offers no assurance that it could pass Certified Angus Beef inspections.

THE DIFFERENCE IS IN THE MARBLING
The difference between an average steak and a tender, juicy Certified Angus steak is the marbling — the small flecks of white throughout the beef — the marbling in Certified Angus Beef insures a better tasting cut of meat at every time.

EVEN OUR TRIMMING IS SPECIAL
To make sure you get the very best value our meat department trims each cut of Certified Angus Beef to a maximum of 1/4 inch of fat. This not only saves you money but helps make Certified Angus Beef lower in cholesterol than skinless chicken.

LOOK FOR THE SHIELD
So, if you're looking for the best tasting beef in America, just look for the special Certified Angus Beef section in our fresh meat case. The Certified Angus Beef shield guarantees that you'll be serving beef that's better than USDA Choice, better than "Black Angus" and even more highly selected than USDA Prime.

HAVE ONE FOR THE ROAD AND YOU MIGHT GET A NEW SET OF WHEELS.

That's if you're lucky enough to survive. Because of the large number of fatal highway accidents each year, a huge percentage is alcohol-related.

The solution to this problem seems so simple. Don't drink and drive. Unfortunately, too many people learn this the hard way. And in many cases, innocent people become the victims of the drunk driver.

Just remember, one for the road could really cost you.

Sobering Thoughts

- Coffee has no effect on you if you're drunk.
- Fresh air has no effect on you if you're drunk.
- Just because you're bigger doesn't make you a better drinker.
- A cold shower won't sober you up.

- Alcohol is alcohol whether you drink "light" beer or the hard stuff. Drink too much and you're drunk.
- Driving slower when you're drunk doesn't help.
- Drunks aren't safe at any speed.
- Only time can sober you up...about an hour for every drink you've consumed.
